

Hannah's Insights

Bottom-up Approach for Swiss Healthcare

by Hannah Wise, our external editor

What's next in healthcare policy? Is it possible to reduce costs while at the same time expanding healthcare services? In this month's video editorial, Hannah Wise refers to the latest Avenir-Suisse study and its roadmap for a value-based healthcare.

Link to the video

Latest Publication:

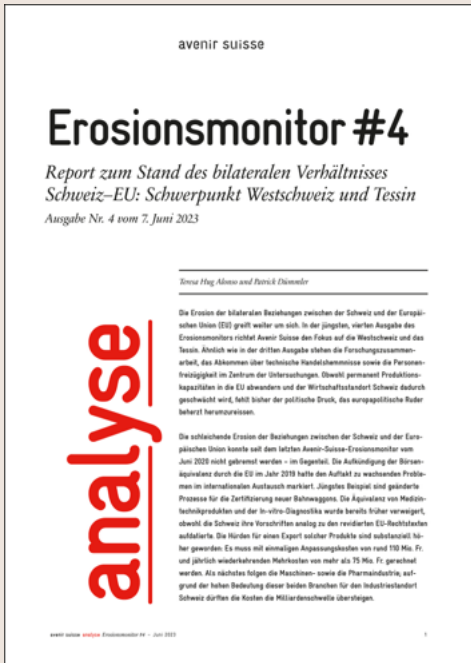

Adding More Value in Healthcare
A Plea for Competition on Quality, Not Cost

by Jérôme Cosandey and Diego Taboada

Some demand cost savings in healthcare, while others call for more services or higher wages. Our latest publication shows how to build a value-based healthcare system among providers, medical societies, patient associations and insurers that puts the patient at the center.

Publication Download in German / French (pdf)

New Publication Coming in June:

Erosion Monitor #4

by Patrick Dümmler and Teresa Hug Alonso

The fourth edition of the Erosion Monitor will be published with a focus on Western Switzerland. Specifically, the study focuses on research cooperation, mutual recognition agreements and the free movement of persons.

Other Highlights:

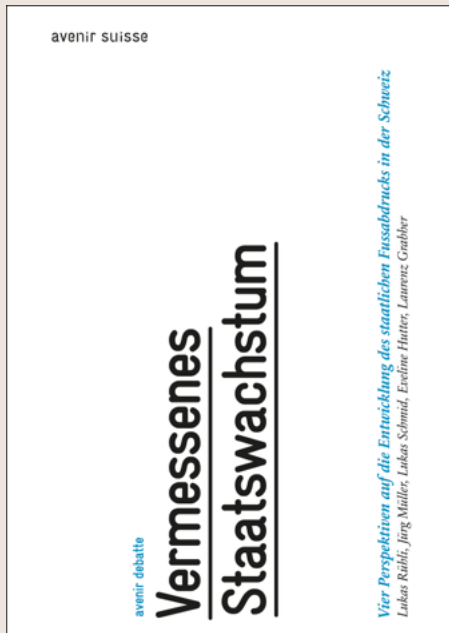

Equality Policy at an Impasse

Since 2020, companies have been required to conduct internal pay assessments and provide information about them. Depending on the findings, they could now even be sanctioned with fines. Yet again, the Swiss National Council is serving a dubious narrative that harms the cause of equality.

Why Keep It Simple When You Can Make Things Complicated?

In order to become climate neutral by 2050, Switzerland has adopted the climate protection act in 2022. But does this law meet the four criteria for an effective climate policy as defined by Avenir Suisse in a 2021 study?

Our Latest Publications

Government Growth out of Control

When Are New Pharmaceuticals Too Expensive?

Study More Equitably

Do you have any suggestions?

Please send your feedback to kommunikation@avenir-suisse.ch